

Max Foley-Keene
Doctoral Candidate in Political Science
Brown University Political Science
111 Thayer St.
Providence, RI
02906
Max_foley-keene@Brown.edu

Education

2020-present: PhD program in Political Science (Political Theory), Brown University
MA (2022), Brown University.
Dissertation: An Eco-Socialist-Civic Virtue: Democracy, Ethics, and Ecological Emancipation.
Committee: Sharon Krause (Chair), Alex Gourevitch, Melvin Rogers
Field Certifications: Political Theory (primary), American Politics (secondary)

2016-2020: BA in Government (Summa Cum Laude), University of Maryland
Thesis: "Theorizing the Next Left: Jacobin Magazine and the New Socialism"

Articles

"A Green Rosa?: Melissa Lane, Rosa Luxemburg, and the dilemmas of eco-production" (forthcoming)

Presentations and Comments

"An Ecosocialist Civic Virtue?" Reimagining Virtue, Rights, and Masculinity in Environmental Political Theory. American Political Science Association Annual Meeting, September 2024, Philadelphia, PA.

"Melissa Lane, Rosa Luxemburg, and Eco-Production," Association for Political Theory Annual Conference, November 2024, Blacksburg, VA.

Discussant Presentation on "Unfree to choose: Market compulsion and the free gift," by Alyssa Battistoni. Brown Political Theory Colloquium, Providence, RI. March 2024.

Discussant Presentation on "On Necessary Labor: A Critique of Current Thinking About Work, Freedom, and Income," by Alexander Gourevitch. Brown Political Theory Colloquium, Providence, RI. September 2022.

Discussant Presentation on "We're Not all in This Together; or, the Concept of the Political in the Anthropocene," by Ajay Singh Chaudhary. Brown Political Theory Colloquium, Providence, RI. March, 2022.

Essays (selected)

"Reading 'Laudate Deum: Pope Francis's theory of ecological virtue,'" Commonweal. October 2023.

"A Toolkit, Not a Blueprint: Evaluating Danielle Allen's 'power-sharing liberalism,'" Commonweal. September 2023.

"Always Something New: What can sports teach us about democracy?" Commonweal. April 2023.

"Beyond Growth: A review of Jason Hickel's 'Less Is More'" Commonweal. November 2020.

Teaching

2021-present: Graduate Teaching Assistant, Brown University

Courses Taught

"The American Presidency," with Wendy Schiller. Spring 2024.

"Introduction to Political Thought," with Melvin Rogers. Fall 2023, Spring 2023, and Spring 2022 (received the P. Terrence Hopmann Award for Excellence in Teaching)

"Introduction to International Politics," with Nina Tannenwald. Fall 2022.

"Injustice," with Alex Gourevitch. Fall 2021.

Institutional Service

Graduate Student Representative, Brown Political Science. Fall 2022-Spring 2023.

Volunteer Mentor for Incoming Graduate Students, Brown Political Science. Fall 2022-Spring 2023.

Organizer for the Brown Political Theory Symposium, Brown Political Science. Fall 2021.

References

Sharon R. Krause (chair)

William R. Kenan, Jr. University Professor of Political Science

Brown University

Sharon_Krause@brown.edu

Melvin Rogers

Edna and Richard Salomon Distinguished Professor of Political Science

Brown University

Melvin_Rogers@brown.edu

Alexander Gourevitch
Associate Professor of Political Science
Brown University
Alexander_Gourevitch@brown.edu